Your Employment Law Partner

Expert advice, clear guidance

Employment is governed by a web of industrial relations, work health and safety, discrimination and compensation laws. Businesses and the lawyers that advise them must navigate this legislative web and be across the implications of the legislation, awards, agreements and contracts, plus the myriad of cases that interpret these provisions.

With Wolters Kluwer and our legal content specialists as your employment law partner, you have instant access to all the information and insight you need to get the best result for your client, cementing and enhancing the relationship.

Practical support

Wolters Kluwer's Employment Law Practice Area delivers up-to-the-minute intelligence on the complex framework governing the employment relationship. Our trusted analysis, comprehensive information and best-practice templates and tools support you and your team whether you are helping your clients to mitigate risk by developing policies, contracts and systems, responding to calls for advice, or supporting them through dispute resolution.

Comprehensive and rapid news alerts mean you never miss a thing, ensuring you are fully informed and up to date.

Tangible Value

With more time, you can develop a closer relationship with your clients. Our Employment Law Practice Area allows you to confidently handle employment matters, provide accurate advice, and stay informed - with the information you require at your fingertips.

You will be able to:
